Market growth in India

Similar to the Indian economy the Indian automobile market has returned to high growth rates: The market showed a growth rate of 7% in 2016. For 2017 a growth of around 9% is expected. Thereby the Indian market would reach a volume of more than 3 million passenger cars for the first time. Employment growth, a young population and a low level of motorization will drive the passenger car demand in India and promise opportunities for future investment.
